Written in 1878, more than 50 years after the Treaty of Waitangi was signed, the Te Waiata o te Whakaaere has continued to influence New Zealand culture as much as the birth of the nation. This inscription on the back of a copy of Te Waiata o te Whakaaere, the publication of the Waitangi Tribunal on the Waitangi Tribunal Act, reads: This Report is in the memory of all those who were past and present representatives of the Natives. For example, the first article by Busby lists the chiefs who signed the treaty; his paper includes an obituary of Hinemoa
